12th November 2026

Dear Parents and Carers

Next week, our school will be taking part in National Anti-Bullying Week, which runs from Monday 16th November to Friday 20th November.

This year's official theme is 'Break the Silence', focusing on empowering children to speak out against bullying and celebrating what makes everyone different and unique.

To kick start the week, we are excited to invite all children and staff to take part in Odd Socks Day on Monday 16th November!

Taking part is fun and completely free! Children can come to school wearing their favourite mismatched or odd socks alongside their usual school uniform.

The message behind Odd Socks Day- Wearing odd socks is a fun visual reminder that we are all different. Everyone is unique and our differences should be celebrated and embraced within our school community.

Throughout the week, children will also take part in special assemblies, classroom activities and discussions aimed at promoting friendship, respect and kindness.

We encourage you to use this opportunity to start conversations at home about the importance of embracing diversity and being a kind and supportive friend.

Thank you for your continued partnership in helping us keep our school a safe, inclusive and happy place for all children to learn.

Kind regards.

Emily O'Brien
